Who needs to get divorced? An Ottawa University masters student is proposing a new type of fixed-term marriage. GETTY IMAGES

I do — for like a year or two, then we'll see

Marriage-ish. Would you say yes to a fixed-term hitch?

LUCY SCHOLEY
lucy.scholey@metronews.ca

If the thought of uttering "till death do us part" gives you a case of commitment phobia, maybe a short-term marriage would suit you best.

Véronique Laliberté, a masters student in law at the University of Ottawa, wants to tweak marriage laws to include a fixed term, with an option to renew.

It's kind of like signing a deal with a cellphone provider.

"That's really romantic, right?" Laliberté said with a laugh.

But, you could argue, undying love is dying out. According to Statistics Canada, there were about 70,000 divorces every year between 2001 and 2008.

The point of a fixed-term marriage is to avoid the hassle of divorcing through court, explained Laliberté. She gave a hypothetical example of a couple that wants to marry but decides on a prenuptial agreement in case the relationship crumbles.

Once the arranged fixed term is up, they could end the relationship, renew it for a second term or do nothing, at which point the pre-nup conditions would be void.

It's like a plan to untangle the knot before it's tied. "I would like to make it not easier, but simpler. Less complicated," Laliberté said.

Laliberté was awarded the 2013-2014 Haykal-Sater prize for the best French-language thesis at her school.

She and her partner tried a three-month relationship contract that has so far ended well. They have been together for a little over a year.

She's not the first to conceive of a short-term marriage. In 2011, Mexico City politicians introduced two-year temporary marriage licences that were mandatory before the real deal. It was up for debate in Germany in 2007, but for a seven-year term. It has yet to be enacted in law.

Judy Kiar, an individual, couple and family therapist in Ottawa, said this type of relationship might work for some couples but said it undermines the hard work a lifelong marriage requires.

"Often times, people think that things should come easy and so if it's hard maybe it's not meant to be," she said. "But the reality is, there's something to be said for working at something and seeing it evolve into something better, rather than just having a change-partners mentality."

Laliberté is considering pursuing her PhD on the topic, advocating to have it brought into law. She hopes to be the first in Canada to legally say "I do" to a short-term marriage.

Murder conviction

Man imprisoned for 31 years can sue Ottawa police, Crown

The longest-serving inmate in Canada to have a murder conviction quashed can sue those involved in his prosecution, Ontario's top court ruled Thursday.

In its ruling, the Ontario Court of Appeal said it would be wrong to deny Romeo Phillion, who spent 31 years behind bars protesting his innocence, a chance at a civil lawsuit.

In essence, the court found, the issues Phillion wants to litigate are different from what the Appeal Court looked at when it overturned his conviction in 2009 and ordered a new trial on the grounds that police and Crown had failed to disclose a crucial piece of evidence.

"The stakes, purpose and process were entirely different from this civil action," the Appeal Court said.

New trial ordered for man found guilty of murder

A new trial has been ordered for an Ottawa man convicted by a jury of murdering a drug dealer. The Ontario Court of Appeal ruled Justice Roydon Kealey erred when he forced Nawaf Al-Enzi to continue his trial after his lawyer quit. Al-Enzi was unable to find a new lawyer, but Kealey refused to declare a mistrial or grant the man a severed trial from his co-accused.

Son gave 'absurd' alibi: Crown

A 33-year-old man should be found guilty of attempting to murder his mother because his alibi is "vague, illogical and completely contradictory," a Crown prosecutor argued Thursday.

"Mr. Hammoud wanted her dead when he jammed that knife between her scapula on that day," said Assistant Crown Attorney Sarah Fountain in closing arguments.

Zeiad Hammoud is accused of beating his mother and stabbing her in the upper back on Oct. 15, 2013 at her apartment on Burnside Avenue. He pleaded not guilty to attempted murder, aggravated assault, assault with a weapon and uttering threats.

In his testimony Wednesday, he told court a blond woman with "short, curly" hair was responsible for the stabbing that sent his mother, Iman, to hospital in life-threatening condition.

He admitted to lying to police when he confessed to stabbing his mother. When asked why he lied to police, he replied it was "for fun."

Fountain countered that immediately after the stabbing, Hammoud fled the apartment with a bag containing electronic devices designed to copy credit-card information.

Hammoud, who is representing himself, argued from the prisoner's box that there was "over-exaggeration" on the part of the Crown and the first portion of the video containing his confession was "a joke to me."

Mash Frouhar, who served as a "friend of the court," told Justice Robert Wadden she believed Hammoud should be found guilty of aggravated assault but not of attempted murder.

Justice Wadden is expected to deliver a verdict on Tuesday. JOE LOFARO/METRO

SkyHawks ownership kicked out of NBLC

National Basketball League of Canada.

Team faced an array of woes: League president

SEAN MCKIBBIN

sean.mckibbin@metronews.ca

The Ottawa SkyHawks ownership entity has been kicked out of the National Basketball League of Canada (NBLC), although the league says it wants to bring a team back to the city as soon as 2015-2016.

A news release issued by the league Thursday morning said the NBLC's board of governors voted 8-0 to remove Bytown Sports & Entertainment Inc. "for failure to adhere to League standards as set out in the Operating Agreement, and deadlines set forth to prepare for the season."

As a result, the SkyHawks will not participate in the upcoming 2014-15 season. The NBLC's remaining eight teams are on track for the league's fourth season, the release said.

"The league is 100 per cent committed to facilitate the return of professional basketball in Ottawa, as soon as next season," the release said.

In an interview with Metro, NBLC commissioner Paul Riley said the league couldn't continue forward with Ottawa in the same uncertain financial position it was in last year.

"We've got schedules that have to be finalized within days, we have a draft coming up within a matter of weeks, and Ottawa still does not have a place to play and Ottawa still has not shown us they have the financial wherewithal to run the team," said Riley.

He said he thought the team's choice of venue was a mistake and called the Canadian Tire Centre "cavernous," too expensive for the team and "far from Ottawa."

But he said team owner Gus Takale was optimistic and assured the league at the outset that he could fill the stadium with basketball fans.

"Gus assured us he could make it work. Well, it didn't work. I think that was the biggest issue the team had," said Riley.

He said Takale had tried to make an arrangement to change venues to TD Place, but he said the league governors ultimately decided that the ownership didn't have the finances to make a go of it, no matter the venue.

Candidate thinks he's in a no-win situation, so why is he running?

Robert White.

Self-described red Tory getting in the race to oppose 'neo-liberalism and Liberal largesse'

lucy.scholey@metronews.ca

Robert White does not think he stands a chance at beating Mayor Jim Watson.

So why is he running for the top elected seat?

"Because this is participatory democracy, and when I don't see any direct, reasonable opposition against the Liberals and neo-liberalism and Liberal largesse, then I'm motivated to provide that opposition myself," said the 54-year-old self-declared red Tory.

You might remember White from the last election in 2010. He dropped out to back former Ottawa-

Carleton regional chair Andrew Haydon, who vocally opposed the light-rail transit (LRT) project.

"I have initiative and I'm not just blowing hot air."

Mayoral candidate Robert White, who says, as mayor, he wants to freeze the police budget, halt long-term capital borrowing and reduce the number of city employees by five per cent per term

Whether or not he thinks he can win, White is promising "pencil-pushing governance" — or fiscal conservatism — that entails freezing the police budget, halting long-term capital borrowing and reducing the number of city employees by five per cent per term.

He also wants to renegotiate the Orgaworld green-bin contract and cut the planned second phase of the LRT.

It's "easily possible" in two terms, he said.

"I'm tenacious when it comes to that. I know it needs to be done and I'm willing to make the alliances that need to be made to make it happen," he said.

"I have initiative and I'm not just blowing hot air. It's a deep concern of mine and it has been pretty much all of my working life."

A Toronto native, White moved to Ottawa in 1971 to study mechanical engineering with a specialization in tool making at Algonquin College. He also has a bachelor of arts from Carleton University.

His current day job is as a contractor and, currently, campaigner.

Apart from Watson, White is running against Mike Maguire, Darren W. Wood and Bernard Couchman.

The municipal election takes place on Oct. 27.

Raitt stays mum about bid for Ontario Tory leadership

Transport Minister Lisa Raitt remains tight-lipped on whether she's considering a bid to lead Ontario's Progressive Conservatives.

Asked whether she's thought about running, Raitt said Thursday she'll continue to represent the riding of Halton, west of Toronto, any way that she can.

Raitt has been the subject of much leadership speculation, with a "Draft Lisa" website set up to promote her as a possible candidate.

Christine Elliott, deputy leader of the Progressive Conservatives, is the only declared candidate in what will be her second leadership run.

She lost to Tim Hudak in 2009, but he resigned after a disastrous loss in the June 12 provincial election.

Her colleagues Vic Fedeli and Monte McNaughton say they're actively considering a bid, and Lisa MacLeod appears to be mulling it over as well.

Party president Richard Ciano is also considered to be another possible leader-

The federal government contributed about $171 million through their gas-tax fund for the project, while Ontario put in about $416 million and the city is committing $599 million.

Despite Ontario's complaints that the federal Conservatives aren't providing enough funding to build infrastructure in the province, Raitt said the federal contribution is "unprecedented."

"I think $53 billion is a pretty significant number that you've never seen in the history of any government in our great nation's history," she said.

"We're very proud of it and we think it's an appropriate amount given the economic conditions that we're currently facing."

Ottawa's Buskerfest ready to put the spark in Sparks Street this weekend

If by 'spark' you mean flaming farts.

Festival offers all sorts of interesting acts, including a human pretzel and an escape artist

DENIS ARMSTRONG
ottawa@metronews.ca

If your taste in entertainment leans toward the lunatic fringe, Buskerfest at the Sparks Street Mall is the place to be until Aug. 4.

That's where, on this long civic holiday weekend, you'll be able to see people do things you've only dreamed of (or dreaded) doing, like bending your body into a pretzel, chopping a cucumber on a person's stomach while blindfolded or farting balls of fire.

Fifteen performers from around the world will perform non-stop on one of five stages between Elgin and Bank. You can take in performances from Australia's juggling knife-thrower Jack Flash, to the Netherlands' fiery magician Pyromancer, to American contortionist Jonathan Burns — who can bend his body into shapes previously thought unimaginable — to escape artist Rob Roy Collins, who will show how he set the Guinness World Record for getting out of a straitjacket while suspended upside-down from a helicopter.

Admission is free, but donations are traditionally encouraged following every performance. A full Buskerfest schedule is posted online at ottawabuskerfest.com.

"These are world-class performers in a brand that's quickly evolving into one of the most popular spectator events around," said Sparks Street BIA

A few laughs

The festival's added live comedy, with comics Mary Walsh, Mike MacDonald and others from the Cracking Up the Capital comedy tour, as well as a late-night adults-only burlesque on Sunday at 11 p.m. Both are taking place at the Marriott hotel at 100 Kent St.

chief Les Gagne.

"The city is hungry for something different. Events like Buskerfest are turning Sparks Street into a social hub, an alternative to the Byward Market as the place for people to meet and have fun in downtown Ottawa."

More than 225,000 people attended Buskerfest in 2013.

"Buskers are popular with young people, and this is one of the better busking festivals in the country," said Gagne.

Fireworks explode over the Canadian Museum of History, the new location for the annual Casino Lac Leamy Sound of Light international fireworks competition. CONTRIBUTED

Sound of Light going all out at its new digs

Gatineau. Fireworks competition aiming for a party feel at Canadian Museum of History

DENIS
ottawa@metronews.ca

Forty hours to create, only 25 minutes to blow up — that's the life cycle of the fireworks show that team Hong Kong will put on at the launch of the Casino Lac Leamy Sound of Light international fireworks competition on Saturday.

But what a 25 minutes it will be, promises visual-effects designer Christopher Wu, who was at Gatineau's Canadian Museum of History on Thursday to make preparations for Saturday's launch.

"We're using Broadway music as our theme," said Wu, a Toronto native and director of the Glorious Entertainment Group, who now calls Hong Kong home. "With more than 4,000 fireworks, it will be a big show. We always try to push the limits."

Sound of Light will involve five nights full of fireworks at the museum. The competition takes a break Sunday and Monday and then resumes on Aug. 5 with Canada and its tribute to foodie culture, Aug. 7 with Portugal and its radio-themed display and the Swiss team on Aug. 11 before a grand finale on Aug. 14.

Since moving from the old location at Lac Leamy, the festival, now in its 19th season, has been renamed and reinvented. Show producers say they've focused on turning what used to be simply a showing of fireworks into a night full of entertainment and family fun.

The park opens at 6 p.m. with live music from local musicians on the Tim Hortons stage while Creation In Vivo, steam-funk performers and multicultural artists, entertain until the fireworks begin at 9 p.m.

There's plenty of seating, but it's available on a first-come, first-served basis. General admission is $5, and children are free. Family picnics are welcome.

It's a good idea to get there early as the show's producers expect upwards of 20,000 people to attend each night.

"We wanted to build the experience and make the festival feel more like a party," said Sound of Light co-ordinator Steven Boivin. "This is our first year at the Canadian Museum of History, and we want it to be spectacular."

Israel, Hamas agree to 72-hour ceasefire, U.S., UN announce Humanitarian truce.

Israeli and Palestinian delegations are expected to travel to Cairo, Egypt, to begin talks on ending the conflict

Israel and Hamas have agreed to a 72-hour humanitarian ceasefire beginning Friday, during which time there will be negotiations on a more durable truce, the United States and United Nations announced Thursday.

At least four short humanitarian ceasefires have been announced since the conflict began, but each has been broken by renewed fighting.

A joint statement released simultaneously in New Delhi, where U.S. Secretary of State John Kerry is travelling, and at UN headquarters in New York said the U.S. and UN had gotten assurances that all parties to the conflict had agreed to an unconditional ceasefire.

An official at Israeli Prime Minister Benjamin Netanyahu's office confirmed that Israel had agreed to a 72-hour truce beginning at 8 a.m. local time Friday.

Hamas spokesman Sami Abu Zuhri said the Islamic militant group was also in agreement.

During the ceasefire, Kerry said Israel will be able to continue its defence operations to destroy tunnels that are behind its territorial lines. Palestinians will be able to receive food, medicine and humanitarian assistance, bury their dead, treat the wounded and travel to their homes.

Israeli and Palestinian delegations are expected to travel to Cairo for talks with the Egyptian government aimed at reaching an end to the conflict.

At least 1,441 Palestinians have been killed, three-quarters of them civilians, since hostilities began on July 8, according to Gaza health ministry officials. Israel says 56 soldiers, two Israeli civilians and a Thai agricultural worker have died.

In Geneva, the UN High Commissioner for Human Rights Navi Pillay accused both Israel and Hamas militants of violating the rules of war.

She said Hamas is violating international humanitarian law by "locating rockets within schools and hospitals, or even launching these rockets from densely populated areas." But she added that this did not absolve Israel from disregarding the same law. The Israeli government, she said, has defied international law by attacking civilian areas of Gaza such as schools, hospitals, homes and UN facilities. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

U.S. criticizes shelling of school

The White House says there is little doubt Israeli artillery hit a UN school in Gaza, describing the shelling as "totally unacceptable" and "indefensible."

White House spokesman Josh Earnest cited statements from the UN that blamed Israel for the shelling, as well as the Israeli government's acknowledgment that it was firing in the area of the school.

First inspection made of Malaysian jet crash site

Flight 17. Australian, Dutch investigators finally allowed to survey wreckage in Ukraine

Two weeks after a missile brought down Malaysia Airlines Flight 17, an international team of investigators reached a wreckage site in eastern Ukraine on Thursday that remains bitterly contested between government forces and pro-Russia separatist rebels.

For the families of the victims, it was an important start in locating and recovering bodies still rotting in the fields and building a case against those who perpetrated the tragedy.

As the investigators — two apiece from the Netherlands and Australia — made an initial survey of the area shortly after lunchtime, mortar shells rained down on fields in a nearby village. Despite the lingering signs of risk, the team called their one-hour inspection a success.

For days, clashes along routes to the wreckage site had kept investigators from reaching the area to find and retrieve bodies that have been lying in open fields where midsummer temperatures have hovered around 32 C.

But after negotiations, the investigators were allowed through the final rebel checkpoint before the wreckage site at the village of Rozsypne. A rifle-toting militiaman then fired a warning shot to prevent reporters from accompanying the convoy on Thursday afternoon.

The militiaman, who gave his name only as Sergei, said there was still fighting in Rozsypne as the Ukrainian army continues an offensive to take back territory from the rebels.

Australian Federal Police Cmdr. Brian McDonald said the visit was only a preliminary survey before more comprehensive recovery work.

"We had a quick inspection of the site. Today was more about an assessment of the site than it was of a search," said McDonald.

Up to 80 bodies are still at the site, said Australian Foreign Minister Julie Bishop.

Soccer team barred from travelling over fears of Ebola

The Sierra Leone soccer team has been banned from travelling to the Seychelles for an African Cup of Nations qualifier because of fears over the deadly Ebola virus.

Players and officials were barred from boarding a plane Thursday in Nairobi, Kenya, that would have taken them to the Seychelles capital of Victoria for Saturday's game.

The BBC reported that Seychelles immigration authorities decided not to allow the Sierra Leone party to travel to the Indian Ocean island because of Ebola. The virus has killed more than 700 people in the West African countries of Sierra Leone, Guinea, Liberia and Nigeria.

The BBC also said Seychelles forfeited Saturday's game and a place in next year's African Cup as a result.

Outbreak. Canada issues advisory on Ebola, says no need for travel ban

Canada's public health agency has issued a travel notice about the Ebola outbreak in three African countries.

But it is not following the United States in warning citizens not to travel to Liberia, Guinea and Sierra Leone — at least not yet.

The notice from the Public Health Agency of Canada notes that dozens of cases of Ebola virus infection have been reported in those countries.

And it adds that Nigeria's ministry of health has reported its first death due to the virus.

But it adds that the World Health Organization does not recommend that any travel or trade restrictions be applied to the African countries in relation to the outbreak. U.S. health officials are warning Americans not to travel to countries hit by the outbreak, which has killed more than 700 people this year.

EU slaps more sanctions on Russia

Malaysia Airlines. Following the downing of a passenger jet, EU has sanctioned some of Russia's biggest banks

The European Union on Thursday revealed the details of its broad economic sanctions against Russia, including the names of five major banks that will see their access to the 28-nation bloc's capital market curtailed.

The banks, in which the Russian state holds a majority stake, include the country's largest lender, Sberbank. The others are Gazprombank, VEB, VTB bank and Rosselkhozbank, also known as the Russian Agricultural Bank.

The latest sanctions were announced Tuesday, but the names of the targeted firms and other details were only released Thursday. The package of punitive measures also includes an arms embargo and the prohibition to export some oil exploration technology used for deep-water drilling, Arctic oil exploration and production, or shale oil projects. Finally, the sanctions also forbid the export of so-called dual-use goods, which can be used for military and civilian purposes, whenever they are destined to Russia's military.

The EU is Russia's biggest trading partner.

The sanctions with the most immediate effect are those targeting the banks because they will make it harder for Russia's already ailing economy to get access to finance and further spook international investors. The United States also imposed similar sanctions on Russian banks.

The EU beefed up its sanctions against Russia over what it decries as Moscow's meddling in Ukraine after the downing of a Malaysia Airlines passenger jet earlier this month over eastern Ukraine, which killed all 298 people aboard. The U.S. and Ukraine say the Boeing 777 was shot down by a missile fired from areas controlled by pro-Russian separatists.

Poles protest Russian ban

Poles are posting photos of themselves with apples along with mocking comments online to protest a Russian ban on Polish food.

Russia will begin banning imports of most fruit and vegetables from Poland on Friday for what it says are violations of health regulations and documentation procedures for some Polish produce.

The ban is expected to mostly affect Polish apples. Poland is Europe's largest producer of apples.

The newspaper Puls Biznesu called for a show of solidarity with apple producers, urging people to eat more apples and drink cider. People responded with humorous posts on Twitter under the hashtag #jedz-ablika — Polish for "eat apples." THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Environment. IMF calls on Canada to hike gas taxes; Conservatives say no way

The International Monetary Fund says Canada and other countries can improve their economies and environment by hiking energy taxes — while cutting them on people and capital.

In a new book, Getting Energy Prices Right: From Principle to Practice, the IMF essentially endorses policies — at times advocated by the federal Liberals and NDP — leading to what some have termed a "green shift" in the taxation system. The Conservative government, however, has rejected carbon taxes.

The premise of the book is that while carbon-based energy was indispensable to economic growth during the past century, it has come with considerable costs.

The solution, the IMF says, is to tax energy to such a level that the revenue pays for energy's environment and health costs.

In a novel and rather ambitious approach, the Washington-based financial institution attempts to calculate the cost of carbon energy — coal, gas, motor diesel and natural gas — for 156 countries and proposes precise taxation levels for each country to implement.

For Canada, getting the price right could be a shock to the system of consumers and industry. For instance, the IMF says gasoline should be taxed at about $0.55 US a litre instead of the current 36 cents, and road diesel at about $0.64 per litre, instead of the current 42 cents.

In an email response, Finance Minister Joe Oliver said the Canadian government rejects the recommendations.

"We will not impose a 52 per cent increase on gasoline and diesel taxes, which would hurt consumers and businesses," he said.

U.S. scientists create see-through mice to get detailed look at inner anatomy

Researchers have found a way to make mice see-through — not while they're alive, and for research only — to help scientists study fine details of anatomy.

Before they are treated with chemicals, the animals are euthanized and their skin is removed. Researchers make their inner organs transparent, but not their bones. The result looks like a rodent-shaped block of gelatin, with the organs held in place by connective tissue and a gel used in the procedure.

Scientists have been able to make tissues transparent to some degree for a century. Last year, a technique that produced see-through mouse brains made headlines. Such treatments reveal far more detail than X-rays or MRI exams could deliver. The new work is the first to make an entire transparent mouse.

Mice are mainstays of biomedical research because much of their basic biology is similar to ours and they can be altered in ways that simulate human diseases.

Guardians of the Galaxy. Cross between Star Wars, Iron Man and Indiana Jones delivers action, wisecracks and a talking raccoon

Richard: Mark, summer blockbusters haven't been much fun this year. Sure, we've had giant robots, action galore and some edge-of-our-seat moments, but from the xenophobia of Dawn of the Planet of the Apes to the daddy issues and nuclear nightmares of Godzilla, the season's tent-pole movies have been a bit gloomy.

a tonic for the troops. An old-fashioned space opera, it's a wild ride and the most pure fun blockbuster since the first Iron Man movie.

Did you have as much fun at it as I did?

Mark: Richard, I generally don't care for space operas, but this one's a game-changer.

Its debt to Star Wars is enormous, with Chris Pratt as Luke Skywalker, Zoe Saldana in the Carrie Fisher role, and the raccoon and the tree as R2D2 and CP30.

But then its originality takes flight — literally — and the movie becomes its own unique creation. Unlike Star Wars, it has a great sense of humour about itself, and if you don't fall in love with the talking raccoon with the Brooklyn accent, you're as villainous as the bad guys in the movie.

RC: Totally, it's filled with one-liners, sight gags and funny moments that play off the more standard blockbuster-style action and battle scenes.

Pratt has an offhand delivery that recalls Harrison Ford in Han Solo mode, Cooper does wisecracks like a skilled Catskills comic and (almost a spoiler) there's Baby Groot to up the cute factor.

They supply the light moments, but despite Cooper's presence, this isn't The Hangover in space; it's an all-out action movie with a blithe spirit.

The only bits that dragged for me were the set-up scenes. Did you find the exposition got in the way occasionally?

MB: I don't think you watch this movie for the plot anyways.

But the very first scene, a waaaaay too serious deathbed scene between a boy and his mother, left me with a bad taste and it took me awhile to recover from it and enjoy the movie.

It isn't all that far from the old Flash Gordon serials, except that every piece of technology is beyond state-of-the-art and the makeup is wonderfully imaginative.

My biggest beef?

The bad guys have bad dialogue. And they deliver their lines in the standard three-octaves-lower register of vil-

Chadwick Boseman had to channel James Brown through multiple personas and pompadours. CONTRIBUTED

He didn't Feel Good about role in biopic

Get on Up. Actor Chadwick Boseman was reluctant to play the iconic James Brown

A year after playing Jackie Robinson in 42, Chadwick Boseman was back in biopic spring training.

To become James Brown for the film Get on Up, Boseman needed to rely on an entirely different skill set. But the preparation necessary to transform into a tireless performer like Brown — “the hardest working man in show business,” after all — was oddly reminiscent of working out on the baseball diamond. “I was like, ‘This is déjà vu,’” says Boseman. “I’m waking up in the morning and lacing them up. Doesn’t matter whether it’s cleats or if it’s leather shoes.”

For the second time, Boseman has stepped into some very big ones. A largely unknown actor previously, the 32-year-old Boseman has emerged with back-to-back biopics of 20th century titans: one the revolutionary breaker of baseball’s colour line, the other the Godfather of Soul. Both were unstoppable forces that blazed across civil rights-era America. One could steal home; the other could do the Mashed Potato.

Tackling one such historical figure is daring; two is audacious. It wasn’t Boseman’s idea.

“There’s no way in the world,” Boseman says was his initial reaction to playing Brown, still sounding genuinely resistant to the idea. Not only was playing such a complicated, iconic personality like Brown a fearsome challenge, it also could potentially typecast Boseman in a biopic bubble.

“I felt like if I keep doing this biopic thing, then all I’m going to get is biopics,” says Boseman. “I was already getting all biopic scripts.”

But director Tate Taylor (The Help) pressed. He brought Boseman in to read a scene in the movie of Brown at 63 and was immediately won over by the fresh-faced Boseman’s ability to transform into the legend late in life. “I thought: This is the guy. Please let him be able to learn how to dance,” said Taylor. But it took weeks of coaxing. “Chad’s point of view was, ‘Nobody should do this. It’s just not even possible.’”

Brown’s vocals are used during performances in the movie, but the part required Boseman to play Brown across time and pompadours. He had to find the voice, the moves, the posture and the persona, and hope somewhere in there was the man, too. “It was all daunting, to be honest with you,” sighs Boseman. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

James Brown's many faces

Get on Up, produced by Brian Grazer, went through many iterations. At one point, Spike Lee was to direct. Later, Mick Jagger, who frequently crossed paths with Brown and took much inspiration from him, came on board as a producer. (Jagger is also producing an upcoming documentary about Brown, directed by Alex Gibney.) The film, which opens this weekend, skips across Brown’s expansive life, from the Georgia poverty of his hard upbringing to his more cartoonish and violent later years (James died in 2006). Get on Up attempts to synthesize all of Brown’s many dimensions: tyrannical band leader, musical visionary, funk preacher, domestic abuser.

An alien orphan who was abducted by big baddie Thanos and trained to be a living weapon along with her sister Nebula. She doesn't feel great about what she's been doing since then and is looking for a change.

Peter Quill Star Lord

An Earthling raised by his single mother until her death in 1988, at which point the 11-year-old was picked up by a group of alien thieves and bounty hunters called the Ravagers. He has a sharp wit, delusions of grandeur and an awesome mix tape of '70s hits that is his only relic from Earth.

Rocket Raccoon

A bounty hunter and mercenary with a bit of an anger problem — due mostly to the fact that he's the product of genetic experiments by some unknown scientific madman. Fun fact: Rocket reveals in the film that he actually has no idea what a raccoon is.

Drax the Destroyer

A proud, noble warrior out for revenge after his family was slaughtered ruthlessly by Ronan, a Kree alien madman in league with Thanos. But first he needs to get himself out of prison and figure out how sarcasm works.

Groot

A sentient, tree-like creature that can grow and stretch to incredible heights — but with a very, very limited vocabulary.

Primer

How does this story fit into the Marvel universe?

Average moviegoers — and even some affirmed comic book fans — might be a little hazy on just who these Guardians of the Galaxy are and how they tie in to the existing Marvel movie universe. (You know, with Iron Man and Thor and all those guys?) So here's a handy primer on the newest piece of the billion-dollar cinematic puzzle. Just because it's space doesn't mean it's the future. As the movie makes clear when we first see the grown-up Peter Quill, this is happening now, on the same timeline as The Avengers, Captain America: The Winter Soldier and the Thor films.

If you've been staying through the credits for Marvel's other films, you've already seen some pieces of this one: Thanos, the big bad guy ordering Ronan around — and voiced by Josh Brolin — first appeared in a post-credit sequence at the end of The Avengers. Turns out he was the one helping Loki attack Earth in that film, and he'll be causing trouble for just about everyone in the Marvel universe for the foreseeable future.

The Avengers

And at the end of Thor: The Dark World, two Asgardians delivered the pesky Aether to the Collector (Benicio del Toro), explaining that it and the Tesseract are "infinity stones" — which will be important later, so keep them in mind. Look for the Collector to pop up again in this film.

Feverish fans propel Grande to the top

My Everything.

Pop's ponytailed star is shining bright on cusp on new album release

Ariana Grande is the new princess of pop, topping the charts with her addictive single Problem, impressing critics with her thick, gliding vocal range and maintaining an image that her young Nickelodeon fans can vibe with, signature ponytail and all.

The 21-year-old is having the best time of her life. But it's also the worst.

Her grandfather, with whom she had a very close relationship, died last week.

"I personally felt like I've been not as appreciative as I could be of the music success I wanted all my life because I've been distracted by my grandfather and his health and this being such a dark time," she said in an interview.

Grande said she hasn't had much time to "sit back and realize and just enjoy" her musical breakthrough, and what's coming next may not allow any time for it.

Her sophomore album, My

Everything, arrives Aug. 25 at midnight, moments after the MTV Video Music Awards, where Grande is nominated for three moonmen. She released Bang Bang this week with Nicki Minaj and Jessie J, which quickly topped the iTunes charts. The Iggy Azalea-assisted Problem, which has sold 2.6 million tracks so far, is spending its 13th consecutive week in the Top 10 and another single, Break Free, is a rising radio hit.

"What's so attractive about Ariana is, No. 1 she's an extraordinary talent, No. 2 she's an exceptional actress, and the third part of it — which makes her a triple threat — is she has this wildly successful fan base on the Internet unlike anything we've seen in some time," said Monte Lipman, the CEO and chairman of Republic Records who signed Grande when she was 17.

MTV reprised its Total Request Live for a day for Grande. Amy Doyle, the network's executive vice-president of music and talent programming strategy, said

MTV sat down with Grande's team to plan ways to help launch her new album.

"If TRL was around today, Ariana would be a fixture in the same way Britney (Spears) was when Britney was of the moment," said Doyle, who said the network had been thinking of ways to bring back TRL, but hadn't come up with the right idea until they thought of Grande. "She was absolutely the perfect artist to do that because her fans are active and she's very social."

The triumph in music comes a year after Grande released her debut, Yours Truly, which featured the multi-platinum Top 10 hit The Way and drew comparisons to Mariah Carey.

Cheek to Cheek. Lady Gaga cans the crazy for classic crooning with Tony Bennett Lady Gaga is a bona fide pop star, but the singer says recording jazz music was easier than pop.

Gaga has spent two years recording an album of jazz standards with Tony Bennett called Cheek to Cheek, to be released Sept. 23.

"You know, it's funny, but jazz comes a little more comfortable for me than pop music, than R&B music," Gaga said in an interview Monday. "I've sung jazz since I was 13 years old, which is kind of like my little secret that Tony found out. So this is almost easier for me than anything else."

Gaga made the comments with Bennett by her side ahead of the duo's taped performance at Jazz at Lincoln Center in New York City for PBS, which will air in the fall. The album's first single, a cover of Cole Porter's Anything Goes, was released Tuesday. Other selections from the Great American Songbook that appear on Cheek to Cheek include It Don't Mean a Thing (If It Ain't Got That Swing), Sophisticated Lady, Lush Life and the title track.

The 28-year-old and 87-year-old Bennett first collaborated on his Grammy-winning, platinum-selling 2011 album, Duets II. Bennett said fans will be impressed with Gaga's vocal performance on the upcoming album.

"They're going to say we had no idea she sings that well," he said.

"And they're gonna say they had no idea that Tony dressed so crazy," Gaga added, as Bennett smiled. "When you come out in your meat dress, Tony, nobody is going to know what's going on."

Cheek to Cheek is Gaga's first release since last year's Artpop. Bennett released a collaborative album with Latin singers in 2012 called Viva Duets.

"There's 60 years between us, and when we sing, there's no distance," Gaga said about working with Bennett.

Seductive electronica from Seattle, exotic sounds from a well-travelled collection and a thrasher that bashes Toronto

Arterial/ Lusine

This achingly pretty electronic piece by Seattle-based Lusine is lovely to listen to, but for full effect, you have to see the video which was inspired by spilling juice on a computer keyboard. It's gorgeous video art.

Passerby/Max LL

Montreal composer Max LL spent months travelling the world collecting exotic sounds from India, Mongolia, Bangladesh, Burma, Nepal and other far-flung lands. The resulting album is entitled Collecting Sounds from Around the World. Passerby is the opening track.

Hogtown/The Rough Boys

Toronto's punk/thrasher/stoner band Rough Boys finally managed to get an EP together entitled Blood, Booze and Gasoline. The lyrics are hard to make out, but you get the idea that they're not impressed with their hometown.

Name. The Last of Us Remastered

For. PS4

Rated. Mature 17+

• • • • •

It's emotional storytelling that makes The Last of Us an outstanding experience. Remastering doesn't change that — it visually enhances shadows and far-off landscapes, conveniently packaged in a documentary and the prequel, but adds nothing important to Joel and Ellie's post-apocalyptic journey. It's a bonus if you have a PS4, but PS3 bargain buyers aren't missing out. Sure, there's more control options and an Instagram-like feature to take and share photos, but really this is just a reminder not to miss out on one of the best games of all time. KRIS ABEL

Justin Bieber ALL PHOTOS GETTY IMAGES

Bieber posts bikini pic after dust-up with Bloom, then tries to make him cry

In the wake of his scuffle with Orlando Bloom in Ibiza earlier this week, Justin Bieber continues to prove exactly how mature he is by continuing to use the most powerful weapon in his vast arsenal — Instagram, obviously — to get the last word. After first posting and then deleting a bikini shot of Bloom's ex-wife, Miranda Kerr, Bieber uploaded a red-carpet photo of Bloom in which he appears to be crying. True to form, he quickly deleted it — but soon gained some courage and posted it again. Take that, Orlando! They say famous people stop developing at the age at which they gain notoriety, which is really unfortunate in Bieber's case. All signs to point to a perpetual 14-year-old.

Charlize pals worried she's moving too fast in plan to marry Penn

Charlize Theron may be head over heels for Sean Penn, but pals of the Monster actress are apparently worried things are moving too fast, according to the National Enquirer. "They're urging her to think twice before finally heading down the aisle with Sean," a source explains. "They fear for her safety." Theron has been spotted around sporting what looks like an engagement ring, hence the calls for concern.

Ledger was a great kisser, Kate Hudson reveals

Kate Hudson has locked lips with a lot of attractive male co-stars throughout her film career, but one really stands out in her memory.

When asked by Bravo's Andy Cohen about the actors with whom she's kissed on-screen, the Almost Famous star responded, "I would say my favourite one was Heath (Ledger). That was pretty excellent. I would say that, I look back at all of it, and that was really — he was lovely."

Hudson co-starred with the late Dark Knight star in 2002's the Four Feathers.

Ticketless and tipsy, Moss talks her way out of Turkey

NED EHRBAR
Metro in Hollywood

Kate Moss seems like a fun travel companion. According to several fellow passengers, the supermodel and upstanding role model turned up at Turkey's Bodrum Airport recently, ready to board an EasyJet flight back to London, too tipsy to notice she didn't actually have a ticket.

"The general consensus was that she didn't have a ticket but, after chatting to the manager for some time, she was whisked off and ushered onto a flight," an eyewitness says.

"It was pretty obvious that Kate had had a bit to drink, as she was talking loudly and didn't seem worried about being seen."

Although to be fair: Booze or no booze, I don't think Moss has ever been worried about being seen.

Elevate a casual get-together or pool party into something special by preparing some spectacular snacks. This is a recipe I go to time and time again because it comes together relatively easily but goes a long way in making your guests feel special and welcome.

Ingredients

Cucumber Jelly

- 1 tsp (5 ml) powdered gelatin
- 1 tbsp (15 ml) water
- 1 1/2 English cucumbers

Gazpacho

- 1 1/2 cups (375 ml) tomato juice
- 1 cup (250 ml) cubed stale bread
- 1 red bell pepper, seeded and chopped
- 1 tomato, diced
- 1 onion, diced
- 1/2 English cucumber
- 2 tbsp (30 ml) red wine vinegar
- 2 tbsp (30 ml) olive oil
- 1 clove garlic, peeled
- 1/2 tsp (1 ml) celery salt
- Tabasco sauce, to taste
- 1/3 cup (75 ml) 35% cream
- Salt and pepper

This recipe makes six appetizers. COURTESY RICARDOCUISINE.COM

Cucumber Jelly

1. In bowl, sprinkle gelatin over water; let bloom 5 mins.

2. Cut 1/4 cup (60 ml) of the cucumber into small dice and the remaining cucumber into cubes. Set aside.

3. In a blender, purée the cubed cucumber until smooth. Strain. You'll need 1 cup (250 ml) of cucumber juice.

4. In microwave or small saucepan, heat gelatin with 1/4 cup (60 ml) of cucumber juice until completely dissolved. Add the remaining juice and the diced cucumber. Stir to combine. Season with salt and pepper.

5. Spoon the jelly into the bottom of six 1-cup (250 ml) serving glasses. Cover and refrigerate for 6 hours or overnight.

Gazpacho

1. In blender, purée all ingredients, except cream, salt and pepper, until smooth. Adjust seasoning. Refrigerate 1 hour.

Assembly

1. In a bowl, whip cream until stiff peaks form. To serve, pour gazpacho on cucumber jelly and top with whipped cream. Season with pepper and garnish with fresh herbs of your choice. Serve. Liquid Assets

An arresting bottle of wine

LIQUID ASSETS

Guys, apparently we're letting the ladies make all the wine-buying decisions. I hadn't given this scenario much thought until I got an update on some new wines from Australia.

Named 19 Crimes, they're a growing collection of Down Under juice wrapped in black, matte-finish bottles with labels that feature the mug shots of some unsavoury looking characters who would be right at home on some 18th century post-office wall. The design is aimed squarely at the male consumer.

Though only time will tell if it works, the story behind the marketing has plenty of cross-gender appeal. If you remember high school history, Australia was supposedly colonized by malcontents who — if convicted of one of 19 different infractions — were given a one-way ticket to the outback.

Dude on the front panel of the 19 Crimes 2012 Shiraz Durif ($16.95 - $19.98) doesn't look happy about his sentence. Crammed with dark fruit flavours and balanced by noticeable oak, it's guilty of pairing well with barbecued meats. PRICES REFLECT THE RANGE ACROSS THE COUNTRY. Lehner gets a three-year extension

The Ottawa Senators have signed goaltender Robin Lehner to a three-year contract extension.

Lehner, 23, played a career-high 36 games last season, posting a record of 12-15-6 with a 3.06 goals-against average and a .913 save percentage.

"I'm very, very happy that it got done," Lehner said Thursday on a conference call. "It's been a long summer; I've been quite anxious to get it done. I feel like part of the team and the community again. So yeah, I'm very happy."

In 61 regular-season NHL games with Ottawa, Lehner has a record of 21-24-10, with a 2.82 GAA and .918 save percentage.

Li Na pulls out of Montreal

Two-time major champion Li Na pulled out of the Rogers Cup and the U.S. Open on Thursday because of a knee injury she said has bothered her for several months.

The only tennis player from China to win a Grand Slam singles title also withdrew from next month's hard-court tournament in Cincinnati.

"I wanted to let all of my great fans know that unfortunately I am going to have to withdraw from the upcoming WTA events in Montreal and Cincinnati, as well as the U.S. Open," she said in a statement released by Tennis Canada. THE CANADIAN PRESS

Trades all around, but Jays stay put

Non-waiver deadline. A's get Lester, Tigers take Price, Toronto gets exactly zilch

In the hours leading up to baseball's trade deadline, Toronto Blue Jays general manager Alex Anthopoulos heard small bits of news about moves around the American League but didn't have time to digest them.

"You're not really spending time to sit back and analyze what your competition's doing and things like that," Anthopoulos said. "You're so focused on what we're trying to get done."

While the landscape around them changed with trades both major and minor, the Blue Jays did nothing before Thursday's non-waiver deadline.

Entering Thursday's action, the Blue Jays held one of the AL's two wild-card spots. They were 2 1/2 games back of Baltimore and three games ahead of New York.

On deadline day, the Orioles added left-handed reliever Andrew Miller from the Boston Red Sox, who had their own fire sale by also sending Jon Lester to the Oakland Athletics, John Lackey to the St. Louis Cardinals and Stephen Drew to the Yankees. New York also got infielder Martin Prado from the Arizona Diamondbacks.

Ace left-hander David Price left the division as the Tampa Bay Rays sent him to the Detroit Tigers in a three-way deal that also included the Seattle Mariners. As part of the return, the Rays got centre-fielder Austin Jackson from Detroit.

Jose Bautista told reporters in Houston before Thursday night's game against the Astros that he had "mixed feelings" about the Blue Jays' inaction at the trade deadline.

"Of course it's a little disappointing that we somehow weren't able to get anything done, but everyone around us that's in contention — and even some teams that aren't in contention like the Red Sox — somehow figured it out," he said. "Maybe they believe enough in our talent that they didn't feel like they wanted to break up our group and sacrifice our talent and what we've got going." THE CANADIAN PRESS

Tagziev's gold came on the heels of Danielle Lappage's earlier victory in the women's 63-kilogram division and capped a great event on the mat for Canada. The day also saw Brittanee Laverdure and Jevon Balfour win silver medals.

NHL. Subban and Habs set to take contract dispute to arbitration

Barring a last-minute deal, the Montreal Canadiens will spend Friday morning pointing out the flaws in one of their top players.

The Canadiens are headed to arbitration with defence-man P.K. Subban, the 2013 Norris Trophy winner and restricted free agent coming off a contract that paid him $3.75 million US per season.

Subban, who told a Toronto TV station this week he'd like to stay with the Habs for the rest of his career, is seeking $8.5 million. The team has countered with what is widely considered to be a lowball offer of $5.25 million.

The two sides are set to make their case to Boston-based arbitrator Elizabeth

All eyes on Tiger. Aussie fires first round's low score as Woods sits four shots back Tiger Woods showed signs of recovery Thursday at the Bridgestone Invitational — not just from back surgery, but also from making bogeys.

Woods bounced back with birdies all three times that he made mistakes, opening with a 2-under 68 on a soft, gentle day for scoring at Firestone. It left him four shots behind

Marc Leishman of Australia and hopeful that this time he can build on a solid start.

Woods opened with a 69 at the British Open two weeks ago, only to plunge down the leaderboard the rest of the week at Royal Liverpool.

"I hit a lot of good shots," Woods said. "I dropped shots at three holes out there today (and) got it right back on the very next hole."

Leishman has quietly gone about his work in reasonable form, with top 10s recently at Congressional and Royal Liverpool. He had the perfect formula for Firestone, a big golf

Tiger getting his groove back

"I'm starting to get the feel back in my hands and get my trajectory under control." Tiger Woods course where good scores are available by keeping the ball in play.

"I drove the ball well. It makes this course a lot easier when you're on the fairway," Leishman said. "It's pretty tough when you're playing from the rough. Then, I hit my irons really well and was rolling the ball awesome. So it's a pretty good combination for a tough golf course like this, something I can hopefully keep going."

Ryan Moore, Charl Schwartzel and Justin Rose are one shot off of the lead.

British Open champion Rory McIlroy was among the leaders until not paying attention to packed sand in a bunker sent him to a double bogey late in his round. He still wound up with a 69. THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Manziel locked in tight QB battle

Johnny Manziel has quickly learned his college days — on the field, anyway — are over.

Less than a week into his first NFL training camp with the Browns, Manziel is going through the typical growing pains of any rookie quarterback.

He's doing all he can in the classroom to grasp Cleveland's offence, but the former Heisman Trophy winner is finding that once he's behind centre, everything is moving faster than expected.

He's making mental and physical mistakes. The throws that came so easy for him at Texas A&M aren't there. He's not scrambling around and making defenders look silly. Not yet.

Johnny Football isn't dominating.

"I'm a rookie," he said. "I don't have all that stuff figured out."

Still, Manziel is making progress and staying close to Brian Hoyer in their competition to be Cleveland's starter.

Both QBs have had their good and bad moments through five practices, and offensive co-ordinator Kyle Shanahan said a contest that has divided Browns fans remains a tight race. "I don't think one's any further in front than the other," Shanahan said.

Hoyer has taken all the snaps so far with Cleveland's first-team offence, but the Browns plan to give Manziel some reps with the starters "sooner than later."

Horoscopes by Sally Brompton

Aries

March 21 - April 20

You're feeling more positive about life and that makes you more willing to get out into the world and rub shoulders with people who can be of benefit.

Taurus

April 21 - May 21

If someone you don't get along with makes an effort to be nice to you today, make an effort to be nice in return. Just because you have different values does not mean you can't get along.

Gemini

May 22 - June 21

With the Sun, Jupiter and now Mercury, your ruler, moving through one of the positive areas of your chart you'll find it easy to hit targets that before you thought were too high.

Cancer

June 22 - July 23

There are some days when, no matter how hard the task you have to take care of, everything comes easy to you, and this is one of them.

Leo

July 24 - Aug. 23

If you limit yourself to tried and tested ways over the next two or three days you will not only make unnecessary work for yourself but you could miss out on something good. Be open.

Virgo

Aug. 24 - Sept. 23

Nothing bad will happen today as long as you think logically. That will help you make sense of what, to emotional types, makes no sense at all.

Libra

Sept. 24 - Oct. 23

If you force others to follow your lead today, they will refuse. If, however, you use your charm to win them over you will find it easy to maneuver them in the direction you want them to go.

Scorpio

Oct. 24 - Nov. 22

What is your number one ambition in life? Are you close to making it come true? If not, don't worry because the planets promise there is plenty of time.

Sagittarius

Nov. 23 - Dec. 21

The upsets of the past few months are beginning to fade and all you should care about today and over the weekend is having as much fun as possible.

Capricorn

Dec. 22 - Jan. 20

You have an obsession with perfection but you need to remember that not everyone shares it. If you take it too far today, you might tempt certain people to be obstructive.

Aquarius

Jan. 21 - Feb. 19

This is an excellent time for travel and social activities, and maybe affairs of the heart as well. You will be chatty and charming today and will make a good impression on someone.

Pisces

Feb. 20 - March 20

If you're planning a surprise for a loved one be careful who you confide in because this is one of those days when information could easily slip out.
